Play No. 2

THE OLD CROC

Show time: 5 minutes, 41 seconds

The Wolf (1) has a popgun (2) in centre stage - he aims to shoot a pig. The Wolf comes in from the right (if you are facing the stage) singing his song, and tries the popgun but it won't. When he looks down the barrel it goes off!

The Little Pig Strawbrains (3) comes dancing in from the left and thinks the Wolf is a "puppy dog". The Wolf gets him to look down the barrel of the gun - but it won't go off. Strawbrains Pig offers to help, turns the gun around and the Wolf looks down the barrel. It goes off "BANG!!!"

The Wolf is so annoyed about this he works out a diabolical revenge - he wraps up a double bungler (4) in a brown paper parcel, lays it beside The Old Croc (5) who is sleeping, and tells the Strawbrains Pig it is a present for him. He hopes the double bungler will blow up the Little Pig, wake up The Old Croc, and the Crocodile will eat what is left of the Little Pig.

When the double bungler doesn't go off, the Wolf comes back to see what has happened. BOOM!!! The bungler blows up next to the Wolf, wakes up The Old Croc who chases the Wolf off the stage. The Crocodile then sings: "If I'd caught him up I'd have died of shock, I've got no teeth, I'm just an old Croc!"

That's All!
